ORIENTATION '87 September 8-18

VINCENT ANTHONY - HYPNOTIST

SPARKLES

Once again the annual orientation at George Brown College was a success. Students from all campuses met at the various events and started friendships that will last the year. Here are some of the events that gave George Brown the world wide reputation as a fun place to be.

HOUSING AT GEORGE BROWN COLLEGE

After attending a meeting last week at Casa Loma, Ralph Lynde and I stopped by Dudley Campbell's office to check out the situation with the housing services offered there.

Needless to say, Dudley welcomed us with open arms and a big smile. These days Dudley is a very happy camper, as the housing project is working out quite well. So now I'd like to take a bit of your time to explain how the system works and tell you the fate of the project.

The housing service, available at 500 Mac Pherson, to George Brown students is a pilot project that has just been put into action this year. Through the efforts of last years S.A.C. members, George Brown College became affiliated with the U of T housing commission (we're talking big bucks folks) and the first ever housing service became a part of G.B.C.

Long, tedious hours were put in by the maintenance staff at Casa Loma and soon the boards were up, all we needed now was the information to put in them. Within the next few days Dudley had the info and had correlated it all so that it would easily accis-ed and understood by G.B.C. students. Apartments, flats, shared accommodations, anything you're looking for, it's all there.

To the untrained eye, the listings look like they wouldn't take much effort to get together. This is not true, as Dudley can attest to, there are many hours put into arranging this information.

The first problem is that G.B.C. doesn't have direct access to the U of T and pick up a computer disk that has new and updated listings. From there Dudley arrives at G.B.C. and processes the information so that new printouts can be made. The results of these efforts are updated listings everyday.

According to Dudley, the housing service has been well-received by the students, therefore making it a very feasible investment for the college. As well, there is the possibility that the service could be expanded to the St. James campus. In fact, the only reason that it isn't available at this point in time is because of lack of office space. (Come on guys, one little computer? Give me a break!)

So, here's what needs to be done:

- 1) A new computer system to allow direct access to the U of T computers.
- 2) Office space made available at St. James for the computer.
- 3) Students to speak out to keep the housing service available.

In conclusion I would like to invite people to respond to this article in the next issue of the Dialogue. We must remember that this is a pilot project, meaning if it isn't supported by the students it could be lost. We wouldn't want that to happen, would we?

Tami Marchuk

Biz Tips by Dr. Johnny Cash

So just how does any hardworking college student invest his or her money to take full opportunity of their returns? Well, perhaps these few do's and don'ts may help.

Being young adults, you are probably not in the position to invest heavily in real estate or other such costly ventures. Avoid stupid high risk ventures for now (unless dad promises not to take away the porche) and stick to wiser, more secure blue chip stocks.

You, as potential investors should choose stocks in a company which you are familiar with. Try any of the three major breweries, that way you can be an owner of the company and you can boast about your favourite beverage.

Another company you may want to consider when choosing an investment is the Kraft company. It makes alot of sense when you consider how many tons of Kraft Dinner that 100,000 college students would consume during the course of a school year.

Smaller scale ventures can pan out in your advantage as well. Don't restrict your directions to the stock market. College students can be very naive, especially if you catch the freshman from small towns. Exploit them, that's what you are there for. Sell them outdated textbooks and old assignments. Make them pay dearly for test answers you know they will never get on a test. Don't think for a minute that people are kind and considerate, because life is hell and you've got to watch out for yourself. Don't take any wooden nickels and don't bend over to pick up soap in a public shower.

So don't let your college years go by without reaping the benefits available to you. A little cash, some time and a good imagination are all it takes to help you become another Howard Hughes. Well, maybe not, but you'll feel good trying.

Good luck until next time when I'll tell you how to get the most out of your parents without making them feel stupid.

SEXUAL AWARENESS WEEK

As you may or may not realize, October 5-9 is officially "Sexual Awareness Week" at St. James Campus.

Sexual Awareness Week will consist of the distribution of literature or subjects such as birth control, aids, STDs and general info on health services available in Toronto. The line up for the week is as follows:

Monday October 5th:
Literature and condoms available in front of cafe

Tuesday;
Carolyn Klopstock from the Dept. of Public Health will set up an information display in front of the cafe. She will be available from 11-1 to answer all questions

Wednesday;
At 12 noon Claudet Walters Henery a Registered Nurse will speak on AIDS in room 185. She will be accompanied by the video "Sex, Drugs, and AIDS".

Thursday;
More information packages will be made available.

Friday;
"Sexual Awareness Week" officially comes to a close with Q107's own Sexy Sue, who will speak and be answering all questions in room 185 at 12 noon (limited seating).

* Note:
Throughout the week a Question Box for questions addressed to Sue will be available at your SAC office. This will allow students to have all their questions answered by Sue.

 Catch Sue on Q107 Sundays at 8PM on the "Sexy Sue Show."

Dear Georgie:
Life sucks
-Spic

Dear Spic:
No shit!!

Dear Georgie:

My problem is sex.
Sex is all I think about,
dream about, talk about
and it's driving me crazy.
Every man I see I imagine myself nude with them inviting them to explore every detail of my passionate nakedness. To touch my body gently, firmly and to roll with me in pure electric ecstasy. What can I do to extinguish the fire in my loins?
-Jenny

Dear Jenny:

This sounds like a very serious matter, I suggest you call me A.S.A.P. because I would like to personally instruct you
as to how to solve your problems.

Dear Georgie:

I'm really fed up with people making fun of Homosexuals; they have enough trouble without ignorant people installing Homophobia into their lives. The language used such as "Fags",
"Queers", "Nob Gobblers",
"Fudge Packers", "Rottent Butt", "Buttock Bouncers", and other statements are terrible, and sincerely
not nice.

I think its time we all rallied as one unified college and stood up for the homosexual rights of
not to be made fun of,
imidiately.

Sincerely

Dear N.W.U.R.:

Are you Queer? I mean really? Whats the point in having homosexuals if you can't make fun of them?

PERSONALS

GWM seeks same for fun in college hiding spots.

To all the fake artists on the 2nd floor, it takes a lot more to be a real artist than to fart around and dress "cool", it takes creativity, which most of you don't have. Furthermore you guys (girls) make me puke.
XO ME.
